The Word on the Street

Two Red Cross Blood Drives are scheduled to be held in Haddonfield: Wed Feb 14 and Sat Feb 24.

How well do you handle the sight of blood, the prospect of getting jabbed, and similar invasive procedures?

KAY PETERS of Sewell became a registered nurse in 1958 – she's seen it all. "I was always interested in how the body works and how it responds to interventions," she says. "I never had a problem watching surgeries. In fact, I found them fascinating."

"I don't mind getting stuck, but I couldn't stick you," says MATT DOBOS of Delran. "Blood in a vial doesn't bother me, but pouring out of a body? That's a different matter altogether."

Haddonfield's LAUREN ZONIES has a brother who was "afraid of blood and bodily injuries. So I played the role of the big sister and helped him get over it." And as a mom? "No sweat!"

"Since I'm a mom, I'm a pro when it comes to blood and bodily fluids," says CONNIE BALIS of Mullica Hill. "Also, I've had multiple surgeries, so I'm used to blood draws and jabs."

LEE PETERS of Sewell is a fan of horror films. "The gorier, the better," he says. "Well, in the movies anyway. I'm not a squeamish person, but seeing someone lying in a pool of blood in real life would probably turn my stomach."

"It depends whose blood it is," says ROBBIN MULLIN of Cherry Hill. "When I have a blood draw, I don't like to look. But I'm perfectly fine with getting vaccinations."

Twain returns

› "It could probably be shown by facts and figures that there is no distinctly native American criminal class except Congress."

Mark Twain's pithy observations on life are as spot-on today as they were when he first expressed them. Now Twain is back, to apply laughter's healing balm liberally, extravagantly, immoderately, and with little regard for the delicacies of today's political atmosphere!

Join him for a good laugh in the Grace Church auditorium at 7pm on Fri Jan 26 or 2pm on Sat Jan 27. A $10 donation to the Haddonfield Educational Trust will secure a seat and be matched.

Dogs to the rescue

› The Haddon Fortnightly Evening Membership Department invites all interested members of the public to attend a presentation on the work of the Tri-State Canine Response Team.

The Cherry Hill-based nonprofit provides trained and certified handler/dog teams for animal-assisted activities, therapy, and crisis response situations. A team of 50 dogs and 60 handlers has touched the lives of more than 167,000 people over the past decade.

The meeting will be at the Haddon Fortnightly Clubhouse (Kings Hwy E at Grove) on Tue Feb 13 at 7:30pm. Refreshments will follow the meeting.

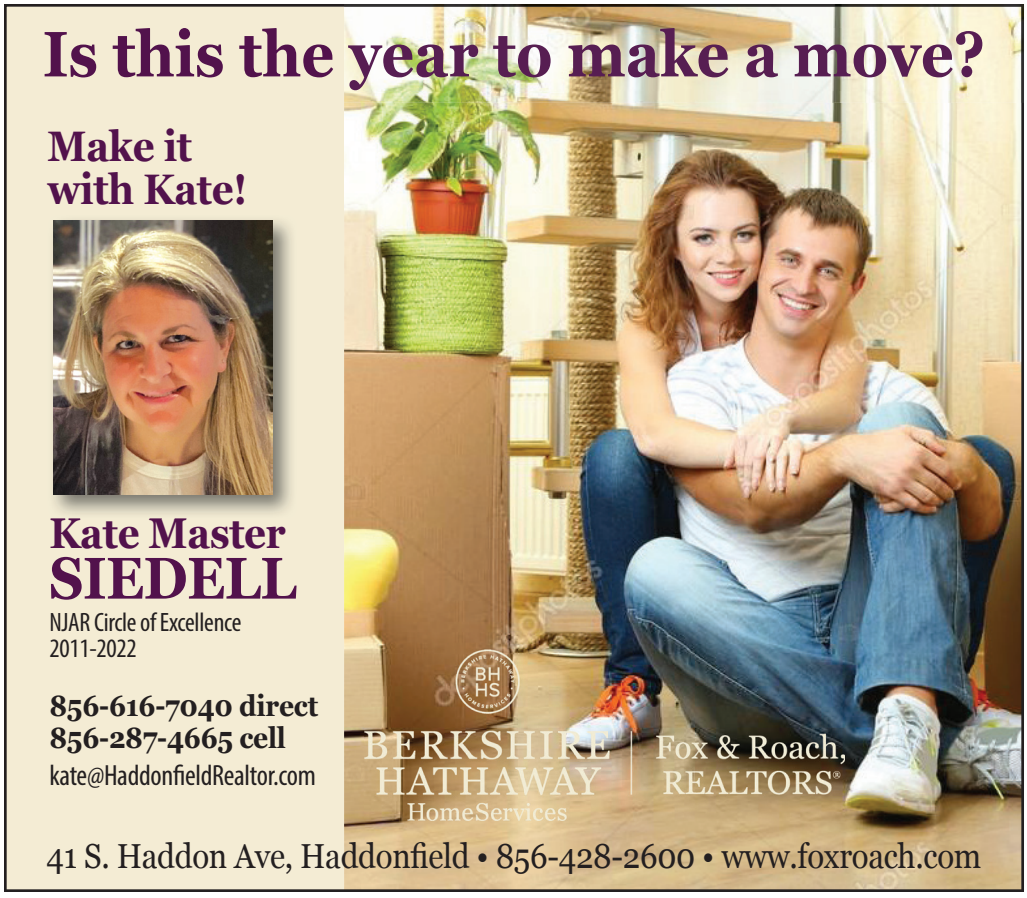

Art for kids

› Parents are invited to register their children, ages 5 to 8, for a series of Art and the Ocean classes at the Markeim Arts Center.

Participants will explore a variety of art techniques as they create an array of sea creatures highlighting things found in the ocean. Art activities will focus on tropical fish, cute crabs, magical mermaids, sparkling shells, creative pirate ships, and more. They will make torn paper art, mold with air-dry clay, paint with non-traditional painting tools, and create collages.

Sun Feb 4, 11, 18; and Sun Mar 3, 10, 17 from 10 to 11am. The instructor is Vin Giannetto.

FREE MEMORY SCREENING

January 31st • 12:00pm to 3:00pm

Give your brain a checkup and enjoy some light refreshments! Our social workers and nurses will provide memory screenings free of charge to anyone interested. A memory screening is a quick, noninvasive "brain checkup" which tests memory and various thinking skills. Results are not a diagnosis, but can suggest if someone should see a physician for a full evaluation.

RSVP to Emily Jimenez at 856-854-4331 or EJimenez@umcommunities.org by January 30.

Historic hats ... and a red dress

› An exhibit of 18 men's formal hats from the Historical Society's collection – mounted in November then removed temporarily during the Holiday season – has been remounted and is now open to the public thru Fri Mar 29.

The hats on display include a stovepipe, Homburg, bowler, Aylesbury, Tilbury, straw boater and fedora. Top hats worn by former NJ Governor Alfred E. Driscoll and his father, Alfred R. Driscoll, and the derby worn by Eugene Kain when he directed funerals in Haddonfield give a sense of the dignity of the times. Two miniature hat models –salesmen's samples – will also be on display.

The exhibit also includes the iconic red dress that former mayor Tish Colombi wore for Haddonfield's Independence Day parades during most of her 28 years as a commissioner.

Greenfield Hall is open Monday, Wednesday, and Friday from 1 to 4pm, and by appointment. 856-429-7375

Dine out/in for Brad Wilby

› A Dine and Donate event to benefit the Brad Wilby Memorial Foundation will be held at Passariello's Pizzeria on Thu Feb 8 from 11am to 8pm.

Passariello's will rebate 20% of dine-in and carry-out purchases tagged to the fundraiser.

A 1999 HMHS grad and soccer standout, Brad died in 2006 of sudden cardiac arrest due to an undiagnosed and little-understood condition to which teenagers and young adults are particularly vulnerable: arrhythmogenic right ventricular cardiomyopathy (ARVC).

Aged 25, Brad was the assistant men's soccer coach at Hobart College.

The foundation created in Brad's memory supports local communities by providing scholarship funds for graduating high school seniors, promoting awareness of ARVC and other cardiac conditions, and purchasing publicly accessible defibrillators for local facilities.

To learn more, go to BradWilby.org.

Coming up

› The Markeim Arts Center has scheduled what promises to be a visually exciting show for Sat Mar 9 thru Fri Apr 12.

Titled Generations, it will feature paintings by John Giannotti (the Haddy sculptor) and photographs by his daughter, Keara.

Stay tuned for details.

Library Book Club to meet

› The Haddonfield Public Library's Book Club meets monthly throughout the year, except in Jun, Aug, and Dec.

Participants gather at the Library on Mondays from 7 to 8:30pm.

The subject for discussion on Mon Jan 29 is a work of short fiction, Foster and Small Things Like These by Claire Keegan.

On Mon Feb 26: Horse, a work of historical fiction by Geraldine Brooks.

Reading copies are available. Contact Kathleen Metrick at 856-429-1304.

Stay tuned for future selections!
