The Word on the Street

The STG Invitational Golf Tournament at Tavistock on Mon Oct 14 will raise funds for cancer research.

If you won the lottery and decided to donate your winnings to a single charity or cause, which one would you choose? And why?

GEORGE MIRAGLIA of Cherry Hill knows a number of families that have had to deal with the trauma of childhood cancer. "It's unbelievable what they go through," he says, and adds, "I would give my lottery winnings for research into the causes and cures of childhood cancers."

SHERI LAPINSON of Cherry Hill has family members in the Israel Defense Forces. "Supporting soldiers, especially in times of strife, is very important to me. So that's where I would send my winnings."

"I'm a member of a 'cancer family,'" says RON VOGEL of Blackwood. "We've all had it." Ron did not hesitate to name the American Cancer Society as the beneficiary of his good fortune.

Cherry Hill's BRITTANY SHARPE McCOLLUM would support Doctors Without Borders. "They take their skills to places that are difficult to get to and that need them the most."

Having been abused physically, DENISE did not want her surname or photo published, but she was clear: "Shelters for women who are going through what I went through get nowhere near the financial support they need. I would give them every penny of my lottery winnings."

ISAAC VOGEL-PRIESTLEY of Drexel Hill PA says, "For most kids, growing up is hard enough. But for kids who don't have parents, it must be incredibly difficult. I would give my winnings to an organization that cares for orphans."

Sondheim on stage: Assassins

› Now on stage at Haddonfield Plays & Players, a musical – believe it or not – that explores the lives of nine men and women who killed or tried to kill one of the presidents of the United States.

From John Wilkes Booth to Lee Harvey Oswald and beyond, the stories of these actual and would-be assassins intersect in unexpected ways, creating a powerful, yet unnervingly funny look at some of the most shocking moments in US history.

Assassins will open on Fri Sep 20 and run thru Sat Oct 5. Tickets are $32 and may be purchased here – bit.ly/3zdkcsF – or scan the QR code ■.

Haddonfield Plays and Players is located at 957 E Atlantic Ave.

Following Assassins, the group will present The Mystery of Edwin Drood, a play based on Charles Dickens' final novel, from Fri Dec 6 thru Sat Dec 21.

Sign on to support bond referendum

› A grassroots community group has been formed to support the Board of Education's bond referendum, scheduled for Tue Dec 10.

Under the banner of CARES – Citizens for Accessibility, Renovation, and Expansion of our Schools – the group is working to ensure that residents have factual information about the scope, benefits, and cost of the Board's proposal, which has been two years in the making.

CARES believes the proposal "represents reasonable and responsible spending for what is necessary and inevitable."

To learn more about this initiative and to join the group, go to haddonfieldcares.com or scan the QR code ■.

Got questions? Email haddonfieldcares@gmail.com.

Detailed information about the referendum is available at the Board of Education's dedicated website: haddonfieldschools.org/vote ■.

Car wash: 9/27

› Dirty car? Bring it to Haddonfield's newest Blue Ribbon School for a wash! Tatem 5th graders will be washing cars at Tatem's bus loop on Fri Sep 27 from 4:30 to 6pm.

Tickets ($5) can be purchased from Tatem 5th graders or "at the door." Proceeds will help fund 5th grade activities and a legacy gift.

Piano concert

› A four-hand piano concert at the First Baptist Church at 4pm on Sun Oct 20 will benefit the Brad Wilby Memorial Foundation.

The concert will be performed by Lynne Wilby and Bob Gardner, an aunt and uncle of Brad Wilby, a graduate of Memorial High School who died suddenly at age 25 from an undiagnosed and little-understood condition to which teenagers and young adults are particularly vulnerable: arrhythmogenic right ventricular cardiomyopathy (ARVC).

The concert will feature a wide range of popular classical music, "from Beethoven to Debussy."

Proceeds will be used to provide automated external defibrillators in public spaces and places, increase awareness of ARVC, and provide scholarships to high school seniors.

To learn more, go to BradWilby.org.

Tax-deductible donations payable to "Brad Wilby Memorial Foundation" may be made on the website or mailed to PO Box 452, Haddonfield NJ 08033.

Feed the birds

› The Rotary Club's annual Bird Seed Sale is under way. The club is offering a variety of quality seed and will deliver orders free of charge to addresses in Haddonfield and vicinity.

Proceeds will benefit the club's charitable projects. Order online at HaddonfieldRotary.org.

Sponsor golf for a good cause

› The 17th annual Sarah Tarditi Gallagher Invitational Golf Tournament and Dinner will take place at Tavistock Country Club on Mon Oct 14.

Golfers have signed up early, as usual, and the tournament is at capacity. However, there are plenty of opportunities for sponsors to associate themselves with one of the premier charitable events in the region.

The tournament was established to honor the life of Sarah Tarditi Gallagher, daughter of Barbara and Jack Tarditi, who passed away in 2007 after a three-year battle with leukemia.

Over the past 16 years, this sold-out event has generated over one million dollars for groups that focus on individuals affected by cancer, including one longstanding beneficiary, the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society.

Learn more about the event at birdease.com/stggolfouting or scan the QR code ■ in the margin.

Available sponsorships include Lunch ($3,000), Dinner ($3,000), and Snacks on the Course ($2,000). For details and to sign on as a sponsor, go to birdease.com/28440/sponsorships or scan the QR code ■.

You'll be in good company, alongside major sponsors Argosy Management Group, ICU Investigations, Conner Strong & Buckelew, AllRISK, Torcon, and Cooper University Health Care.

To donate, go to birdease.com/28440/donate.

ArtWalk wine and cheese

› A reception for artists participating in the latest ArtWalk exhibition will be held at Sparrow's (10 Mechanic) on Sat Sep 21 from 4 to 7pm.

An initiative of the Haddonfield Outdoor Sculpture Trust (HOST), ArtWalk is an outdoor art exhibit space – a Parisian-style wrought-iron fence – on Mechanic Street. The current exhibition features color reproductions of 20 pieces by alumni of the Fellowship of the Pennsylvania Academy of the Fine Arts. It will remain in place until the end of the year.

All of the originals can be viewed online, at fellowshippafa.org, and are available for purchase for prices ranging from $650 to $14,400. Ten percent of sales will donated to HOST to help fund its educational art programs.

Artists expected to attend the rain-or-shine reception include Rachel Citrino, Varvara Fern, John Formicola, Peter Frantz, Rebecca Segal, and Barbara Sosson. A tax-deductible donation of at least $30 per person is requested.

Author talks, online, free

› The Public Library is a member of a collaborative that arranges for prominent authors to discuss their work live, online ... and free for viewers.

Coming up:

• Sat Sep 21 at 7pm: If you knew your future, would you try to fight fate? If you were told you only had a certain amount of time left to live, would you do things differently?

Mega-bestselling author Liane Moriarty will discuss her newest novel Here One Moment, a brilliantly constructed tale that looks at free will and destiny, grief, love, and the endless struggle to maintain certainty and control in an uncertain world.

• Wed Oct 9 at 7pm: Free your mind with NY Times bestselling author Silvia Moreno-Garcia, author of novels such as Mexican Gothic, The Daughter of Doctor Moreau, and Gods of Jade and Shadow. Her talk is titled, "Liberating Latin American Genre Fiction."

• Tue Oct 22 at 2pm: Every year, nearly 30 million Americans relax on a therapist's couch.

Lori Gottlieb, author of Maybe You Should Talk to Someone, will examine the truths and fictions we tell ourselves that hold us back and get in the way of living the life we desire.

Find out about The Fortnightly

› Organized in 1894 by twelve Haddonfield women who sought social, cultural, educational, and literary opportunities for women in the community, The Haddon Fortnightly is celebrating its 130th anniversary this year.

In 1922, the club and the Civic Association jointly adapted a former church, on the corner of Kings Hwy E and Grove Street; in 1931, the club acquired the building outright.

Women who live in Haddonfield and the region who are interested in civic and social engagement are invited to attend a meeting of the main club on Fri Oct 18 at 1pm, or of the Evening Membership Department on Tue Oct 8 at 7:30pm, to meet some members and learn more the organization.

For more information about rentals, tours, and membership, visit thehaddonfortnightly.org.

Got old bikes?

If you have bicycles in your garage or basement that you no longer need, the Rotary Club will be happy to take them off your hands and give them a second life.

When you take your unused bicycles to the Borough Hall parking lot on Sat Nov 9 (9am to 2pm), Rotary will collect them and hand them over to Zummo Bikes for their Dream Building Bike Program.

Zummo refurbishes the bikes and donates them to deserving students and families who need transportation to get to work or school.

Haddonfield schools plan $46m referendum for Dec 10 vote

By Matt Skoufalos / September 9, 2024

READ MORE ABOUT IT! For the rest of the story on your smartphone, scan:

Haddonfield voters will head to the polls December 10 to cast their ballots on a $46-million bond referendum that would bring big changes to every building in the ... school district.

The Haddonfield Board of Education approved the measure for referendum in a special meeting [on Wed Sep 4], in which Superintendent of Schools Chuck Klaus laid out the details of the plan.

The district has spent nearly two years readying the ballot question, Klaus said, and after failing to hit its marks earlier this year in a plan to acquire the former Kingsway Learning Center, took some months to regroup.

The latest plan will touch every building in the district, adding classroom space and accessibility solutions at Central, Elizabeth Haddon, and J. Fithian Tatem Elementary Schools, making improvements to auditoriums and athletic facilities at Haddonfield Middle and Memorial High Schools, and leverage a land carve-out from the former Bancroft School site to create a ...

Grants for teachers

› The Haddonfield Educational Trust has launched its Teacher Innovative Grants Program for 2024-25.

The grants enable individual teachers in the Haddonfield School District to explore creative approaches to learning. Since 2016, when the program was established, the Trust has awarded more than $100,000 in grants. This year, it will double the funds available, from $15,000 to $30,000.

Funding for the program will come from the Trust's investments and the third annual Rally in the Alley, scheduled for Sat Nov 23.

The application deadline is Mon Nov 25. Go here – bit.ly/4d4K4Fe – or scan the QR code ■.

Commission Election: Q&A

› From David J. Hunter, publisher of Haddonfield Today:

The general election on Tue Nov 5 will include an election for one member of the Haddonfield Board of Commissioners, to fill the balance of the unexpired term of Commissioner Kevin Roche, who resigned in May 2024.

There are two candidates for one seat: William C. Shanahan and David C. Siedell. The winner will hold office until early May 2025, when a regular election will be held for all three seats on the board.

Ballots for voters who have requested Vote by Mail ballots are scheduled to be mailed on and after Sat Sep 21. To help these voters, in particular, to make an informed decision about casting their vote, we publish here a set questions to the candidates – some of our own design, others suggested by readers. Except for the Bios, candidates were asked to limit responses to 250 words.

For general information about the election and voting, see page 29.

William C. 'Bill' Shanahan

My wife, Shannon, and I have lived in Haddonfield for over twenty years now. We raised our two kids here, running between sports fields, school activities, and then, suddenly, high school graduation.

I retired from the US Army after over 32 years of active and reserve duty as an Aviation Branch Lieutenant Colonel, and deployment to Afghanistan.

I have worked at the Delaware River Port Authority for 25 years now, first in operations, then for 20 years as the Director of Government Relations and Grants. In 2021, I replaced the retiring Director of Homeland Security.

I am an attorney licensed in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. I have a Master of Government Relations degree from the University of Pennsylvania and am a graduate of the US Army Command and General Staff College.

I've served on many boards, including the Zoning Board here, and am a member of the VFW and American Legion.

David C. 'Dave' Siedell

I've been proud to call Haddonfield home for the past 25 years, where my wife, Kate, and I have raised our three children – Meggie, Jack, and Patrick – with a deep commitment to service and community.

As the Executive Director of Teaching and Learning at the Wharton School, I've had the privilege of helping shape future business leaders. I'm excited to bring that same passion for excellence to my campaign for commissioner.

My dedication to Haddonfield runs deep. I served three terms on the Board of Education, where I worked to support our schools and our children's future. I've also been deeply involved in several local boards and non-profits, including the Haddonfield Civic Association and the Haddonfield Educational Trust.

I'm running for commissioner to ensure that Haddonfield continues to thrive for generations to come, and I'm committed to positively impacting our community's future.

Commission Election: Q&A

Q01. Qualifications

◆ QUESTION: Why do you believe you are qualified to serve (a) as a commissioner and (b) as the director of revenue and finance?

◆ SHANAHAN: (a) I have over three decades of government and military experience. I bring leadership, the ability to work as part of a team, and experience handling difficult situations under extraordinary conditions. I want to use my abilities to help our community. There are many issues that need attention and my skill set will help navigate these matters.

(b) I have a masters degree in Government Administration from the University of Pennsylvania, which focused on fiscal and budgetary skills. I've put together public departmental budgets, both operating and capital, for over 25 years. Additionally, I was responsible for the capture and administration of over $150 million in federal grant funding, with over 25 government audits with no findings. Budgeting for a government entity is different from the private sector. It's not designed to be flexible, nor should it be, because it's all public funds. We must plan, communicate and ask for input, get consensus, then budget and execute that budget. It's a different skill set needed to budget in the public sector and I have the experience to do just that.

◆ SIEDELL: I am uniquely qualified to serve as commissioner and director of revenue and finance due to my extensive experience managing large budgets and making critical financial decisions. In my current role as Executive Director of Teaching and Learning at Wharton, I am responsible for overseeing a yearly budget of over $8 million, managing a team of 32 employees, and making strategic operational and capital investment decisions for an institution that has been in existence since 1741 and will continue long after I am gone. This long-term perspective has given me a deep appreciation for making decisions that serve the present and future.

During my three terms on the Haddonfield Board of Education, I spent two years as the finance committee chair, where I helped develop and oversee the execution of a yearly budget exceeding $37 million. I understand that public financing is not about making profits but about making decisions that will impact future generations. The long-term effects of spending decisions made today must be taken into consideration.

With my combined experience in the public and private sectors, I am well-equipped to oversee Haddonfield's revenue and finance department. I have a proven track record of managing comparable budget sizes and understanding the long-term implications of financial decisions. I am eager to apply this expertise to ensure our town's financial health and stability for years to come.

Q02. Challenges

◆ QUESTION: What are the biggest challenges Haddonfield faces?

◆ SHANAHAN: Bancroft is the current, most noted challenge that we have to navigate with transparency and consensus.

Infrastructure is a challenge. Old stormwater drainage systems and new requirements from the state. There are federal grants administered through the state that are being investigated by the administration.

Recent burglaries around town are concerning. I have the experience to help the police and director of public safety find new resources and solutions to help fend off these crimes.

Crows Woods is in dire need of rehabilitation. It's an old municipal dump and glass is starting to migrate up to the top. It needs to be capped properly to current environmental standards to keep our kids safe. I 'll work with the administration on a grant for this issue.

Ordinances regarding zoning and building are antiquated. We're "zoning by variance." The zoning process adds costs – up to $2,000 to the homeowner – before a contractor starts the project. We need to review and rewrite these ordinances to allow the building inspector to approve these.

The requirements for new construction need to be changed. Builders are constructing new or substantially rebuilt homes on smaller lots. They increase the building footprint by removing driveway space, pushing cars to park overnight on the street. If we tighten up these ordinances, houses would be proportionate with neighborhood and more affordable.

◆ SIEDELL: Haddonfield is currently facing several significant challenges that will shape its future. The biggest issue is the development of the Bancroft parcel / Woodmont project, which includes 102 rental and 18 affordable units. While we need to fulfill our legally required affordable housing obligations, we must carefully consider how these developments will impact our infrastructure, schools, and the character of our town.

Stormwater management is another critical issue. We've seen increased flooding and lawsuits related to these concerns, and we need a comprehensive plan to address them, protecting residents and our community from long-term environmental and financial damage.

Our downtown is the heart of Haddonfield; keeping it vibrant is essential. We must support our local businesses, especially as they face economic pressures and competition from larger retail hubs.

Additionally, rising costs and increased borrowing due to property acquisitions and maintenance are putting stress on our budget, and we need responsible financial planning to ensure the town's long-term fiscal health.

We can't ignore the concerns about crime, both real and perceived. Public safety must remain a priority, and we must work closely with law enforcement and the community to ensure Haddonfield remains a safe place to live.

I am ready to address these challenges by fostering smart development, prioritizing infrastructure improvements, supporting local businesses, leveraging our Public Safety experts, and ensuring responsible fiscal management.

Q03. Issues

◆ QUESTION: What are three key issues you'd like to focus on, if elected?

◆ SHANAHAN: 1. Working with the other commissioners, a comprehensive review of the Bancroft project.

2. Zoning ordinance review and updates.

3. Review of the operating and capital budgets for grant opportunities.

◆ SIEDELL: One key issue I'm particularly passionate about is restoring trust in our local government. Over the past year, I've seen public trust erode, and rebuilding that trust is no small task. From my experience serving on the school board, I've learned how difficult it is to regain trust once it's been lost and how easily it can be broken. My goal is to bring civil discourse back into our decision-making process, ensuring that we work together respectfully and transparently.

Over the first few months, I will work to gain a deeper understanding of our town's issues. While some matters, such as the Bancroft development, are time-sensitive and will require immediate attention, I believe it's crucial to take the time to listen, learn, and collaborate with the other commissioners, residents, and town administrators to prioritize our most pressing needs.

Stormwater problems, our downtown, and our public safety are all important for Haddonfield. Still, as commissioner, I would work closely with my colleagues to align our priorities and create a unified approach that best serves our community. Trust, collaboration, and transparency will be at the heart of everything I do.

Connect with REFERENDUM WEBSITE

› A referendum will be held on Tue Dec 10, seeking voters' approval to fund School District projects for accessibility, additional classrooms, auditoriums and athletics, building maintenance and safety, early childhood education, and specialized learning and media centers. The projected total cost is $46.7 million (less $9 million in state aid). The annual cost for the owner of a property assessed at the current average ($530,509) will be $369. Scan the QR ■ for details.

Q04. Public Safety

› A community group is donating funds to the Police Department to purchase automated license-plate readers that will be used to record data about vehicles entering Haddonfield. The move is in direct response to several break-ins and vehicle thefts earlier this year. The Police Chief says statistics show "there is no rise in crime." [The Retrospect, August 30, 2024] Privacy advocates ask: "Will these license plate readers enhance or diminish our freedoms and privacy?" [The Retrospect, September 6, 2024]

◆ QUESTION: Do you believe it is beneficial to deploy license-plate readers? Do you believe that the analysis and retention of the data they collect is justified?

◆ SHANAHAN: License-plate readers are useful tools for law enforcement agencies. However, they are resource-consuming. The data must be reviewed, stored, and maintained. It's subject to legal discovery requests. The state police use this technology but have the personnel and IT resources to maintain a database, video storage, and to properly comply with discovery and other jurisdiction requests for video or information. I don't think the Borough has all the resources needed to properly operate these assets.

Buying the license-plate readers, versus leasing them, isn't the best method since the technology is camera-based, and security cameras are usually obsolete in five years. So ... good intent on the part of the citizens who are trying to help our Borough stay safe. We should embrace their civic-mindedness and help guide them to more effective ways to help.

For example, as the chair of the Philadelphia regional transit security group, I developed the Look Up, Speak Up project used in the region by PATCO, SEPTA, and DART. This app allows the user to select the agency and either text a tip with pictures or call directly to the county police communications center, ensuring capture by a 24-hour public agency that has immediate communications to the appropriate agency. Everyone has a camera on their phone; this helps our small police department by enabling our residents to report anomalies. The police can determine if it is actionable and investigate, then act based on a tip from the app, reported in real time.

◆ SIEDELL: In my role in IT and through my experience on the Board of Education, I've learned that some issues require the expertise of our paid professionals. The role of a commissioner is to ensure the voices of the public are heard while collaborating with those experts to make informed decisions when the path forward isn't always clear.

In the case of automated license-plate readers, I would rely heavily on the professional judgment of the Police Chief. If the Chief believes these readers would benefit public safety, we should consider the donation carefully. However, if the Chief does not see a need for these devices or believes there are better ways to enhance safety, I would seek to understand why. The input of the Chief is critical, but so is the perspective of the community group donating. Their intention is clearly to improve safety, and I would want to work with them to determine how their support and energy could be most effectively utilized.

Ultimately, I believe any decision about these license-plate readers should be made in our town's best interest, balancing public safety with privacy concerns. We must ensure that our department's tools serve our immediate safety needs and protect our civil liberties.

Q05. Nonprofits

› Some Haddonfield nonprofits are still struggling to recover from the effects of the Covid pandemic. For reasons that have not been communicated, the Borough has not scheduled a Fall Festival on Kings Hwy this year, thus depriving community groups of their traditional opportunity to publicize their activities, recruit members, and raise funds on a Saturday in October.

◆ QUESTION: Do you believe the Borough should actively support Haddonfield nonprofits? If so, suggest some ways it can do so. If not, why not?

◆ SHANAHAN: Volunteers and nonprofits are an important part of our community. They perform services that make this town uniquely special.

Of course I would support nonprofits. I would work with my fellow commissioners to ensure nonprofits have a seat at the table and representation at Borough events.

◆ SIEDELL: During the Commissioner's Work Session on September 9, I raised the issue of the Fall Festival's cancellation and its impact on local nonprofits that rely on the event to recruit members and raise funds. I learned that the festival is being replaced by a new event celebrating Haddy's Birthday, but the response regarding nonprofits setting up tables was non-committal. Despite this, I strongly believe the Borough should actively support our local nonprofits.

Nonprofits are a vital part of our community, and their success reflects what residents value and find beneficial for the town. Supporting them isn't just about helping the organizations themselves – it's about fostering the public good that they promote. The pandemic hit many of these groups hard, and it's in the Borough's interest to help them recover and thrive.

The Borough can support these groups by integrating them into the many events held on Kings Highway throughout the year. Instead of relying on a single day like the Fall Festival, we could create multiple opportunities for nonprofits to recruit and fundraise at events like the Antique Auto Show, the Summer Street Fest, and Rally in the Alley. This allows our groups to engage the community more frequently and in different contexts.

I am committed to ensuring our nonprofits have the support and opportunities to continue their important work in Haddonfield.

Q06. Parking

› The commissioners' September 2023 decision to charge for parking on Saturdays and until 8pm six days a week, and to replace parking meters with kiosks and an app remains widely unpopular.

◆ QUESTION: What future do you see for free parking and paid parking in Haddonfield? In particular, are you in favor of: (a) free public parking on Saturdays; (b) returning Monday through Friday paid parking hours to 9am to 6pm; and (c) giving drivers options in addition to the Premium Parking app to register for 10 minutes of "errand parking" time? "Yes"/"No" answers to (a), (b), and (c) will be sufficient, although you may elaborate if you wish.

◆ SHANAHAN: Haddonfield has implemented a program for senior parking. All 60+ age residents of the Borough can get a parking pass for $20 for the calendar year.

I'm in favor of paid parking on Saturday, as many of the cars parked are from out of town, and the money collected offsets some of the downtown waste management expenses and municipal services.

I don't support returning Monday-through-Friday paid parking hours to 9am to 6pm, for the same reasons. The parking fees offset some of the downtown waste management expenses, instead of possibly raising taxes for these expenses.

I do support giving drivers the ability to register for 10 minutes of errand parking time via the app.

◆ SIEDELL: I believe parking policies in Haddonfield should balance the town's revenue needs with the needs of our downtown merchants and local residents. The decision to extend paid parking hours and the introduction of the Premium Parking app has raised concerns. Still, I think we need to strike a better balance between turnover for short visits and longer-term parking for diners and shoppers.

Regarding street parking, I would look at the data to see if the extra evening time is even justified; the goal is to help manage turnover for quick trips. Additionally, I would advocate for free parking in the lots on Saturdays and evenings to support residents and visitors who plan to spend more time downtown, whether dining or shopping.

While the convenience of the old parking meter buttons for free time was appreciated, I believe the new system's free time for quick errands is sufficient – and the meters are gone. That said, I am committed to keeping an open mind and an open ear, listening to feedback from merchants and residents, and adjusting, as needed, to find the right balance between generating revenue and supporting our local businesses.

Q07. Engagement

› The current Board of Commissioners has been criticized not only for failing to inform the community about their work on some major projects, but for failing to invite input from the community on those projects. Examples include major changes to parking regulations (which were implemented without any public input or advance notice) and the naming of a designated redeveloper for Bancroft (which was announced without the release of any information about the responses to the RFP/Q or opportunity for public comment on the proposals).

◆ QUESTION: Do you believe those criticisms are valid? If so, suggest ways the commission could do a better job of involving the community and communicating with the community. If not valid, why not?

◆ SHANAHAN: The Borough has added an app that I use every day in an effort to communicate better. That's a positive step. Most of us are busy working, dropping the kids off at the athletic fields, Back-to-School Nights, etc.

Because of this, I think we have to over-communicate. That is, we should push things out instead of having residents pull information. The app is a great start; I get a notification for every article that comes out of the Borough. But perhaps the Borough should promote the app even more and place more information on it. We could break the notifications down by categories, like events, traffic issues, agenda for the commissioners' meetings, etc.

◆ SIEDELL: The criticisms regarding transparency are valid because they exist. I take issue with the current administration's lack of transparency, particularly around major decisions like parking hours, meter changes, and the Bancroft redevelopment. After joining the Board of Education in 2014, I saw firsthand how much harder governing becomes when transparency is lacking. It took a dedicated effort to improve our processes by publishing documents, recording and hosting videos of meetings, maintaining thorough minutes, and ensuring public participation in large, impactful decisions.

As commissioners, we are responsible for making decisions, explaining our thought processes, and informing the public. When the community is left out of the decision-making process, it fosters distrust and disconnects residents from the issues that matter to them. Our neighbors' Facebook posts should not be more informative than the official Borough channels.

If elected, I will be fully committed to transparency and accountability. For the Civic Association, in 2011, I spearheaded the recording and posting of all public meetings – personally recording many and recruiting high school students to do many. I will work to ensure that important information is shared with the public in a timely and accessible way. This means providing clear explanations of decisions, offering opportunities for public input before major changes are implemented, and ensuring that every resident can understand and engage with the commission's work. I invite everyone to hold me accountable for this commitment, as I believe it is essential for effective leadership and maintaining trust in our local government.

Q08. Bancroft

◆ QUESTION: What would you like to say about Bancroft, in 250 words (or fewer)?

◆ SHANAHAN: I'm not in favor of multi-family rentals as a general rule, and including the Bancroft project. However, for over twenty years, the Bancroft property has been the subject of much consternation. What's on the table now is the product of years of failed referendums, lawsuits, missteps, funding shortfalls, and more importantly, a lack of consensus. No one is thrilled with the Borough being a landlord or non-Borough-purpose landowner, including the current commissioners. But I'm a realist and this may be the hand we're dealt because of its tumultuous history and a more recent court order.

We'll see the result of the current lawsuit challenging the plan and must act depending on the outcome. Whatever the course before us, we must over-communicate the process and drive towards a consensus, then put this issue to rest.

There are many other issues facing us: a nationwide shortage of law enforcement officers, infrastructure, updated zoning ordinances, the state of our youth sports fields, rising costs of doing the business of the Borough, etc. These issues are important to the quality of life as we know it here in Haddonfield. We must address these issues as well.

◆ SIEDELL: My approach to the Bancroft issue and the Borough's agreement with Woodmont Properties centers on minimizing impact. This means carefully weighing any proposal's positive and negative aspects and finding a solution that meets Haddonfield's needs while protecting its character. The current conditional agreement with Woodmont, which includes 120 units, fails this test.

Haddonfield faces four competing pressures: fulfilling the affordable housing obligation, preserving open space, creating downsizing opportunities for older residents, and managing the impact on infrastructure and schools. Each issue must be addressed holistically, not just as a "Bancroft problem."

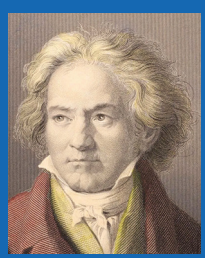

Starting with affordable housing, we must build 10 affordable units. Woodmont's 18 affordable and 120 total apartments are 120% more than required – the opposite of minimizing impact. I also oppose creating a segregated affordable housing area, as seen with The Place at Haddonfield. Downsizing opportunities for seniors could be included by designing two- or three-bedroom homes with low maintenance and one-floor living. Additionally, maximizing open space aligns with the surrounding Camden County Park system.

The fourth issue – pressure on infrastructure and schools – is significant. The area is already congested, especially near the high school, and Woodmont's 120 units would add unnecessary strain.

While this is not a proposal, a better balance can be found. A smaller-scale project or a plan to divide the property into lots for individual builders could better meet the town's needs. The Woodmont proposal, however, is too large and does not minimize the impact.

Q09. Bottom Line

◆ QUESTION: Why should voters mark their ballot for you, rather than for your opponent?

◆ SHANAHAN: First, my perspective on the role of a commissioner is that I'm one of 12,500, and when performing a commissioner's duties, I'm one of three. That is, we represent everyone in town, and as commissioners, we must work as a team to resolve the many issues that face us. We can't do it alone. We owe diligence and respect to the residents of this community that have been doing all of the paying, volunteering, and working on behalf of this special town. Working as a team honors that commitment.

Next, I bring decades of compatible experience to the table and can use these skills to work on tackling issues. I've been part of high-functioning teams in my military career. As a commander, every decision leads to you, but as every successful commander knows, you build your team and run with the team. As a staff officer, you are that team, each staff function pushing in the same direction. That's an important distinction here; we all have to stay in our lane and work for consensus. In government, there's always a process to follow. Break down the steps and follow the process, while communicating to the stakeholders – the 12,500 residents of our town. We will drive to consensus this way, focusing on the needs first and wants second.

Bottom line, I have the skill set, temperament, and mindset that leads to success as it has in my careers. This election isn't about me, it's about the wonderful people of Haddonfield and our great town. Haddonfield, you have a choice!

◆ SIEDELL: Voters should support me because I bring a deep commitment to Haddonfield and a strong focus on transparency, collaboration, and responsible development. I've called this Borough home for 25 years, served three terms on the Board of Education, and held leadership roles in several local nonprofits. I understand the importance of building trust with the community. I have firsthand experience fostering transparency and public engagement, which I saw was lacking in the Board of Education a decade ago and, more recently, in the current Borough administration.

My approach to key issues, like the Bancroft redevelopment, centers on minimizing impact – balancing affordable housing, downtown opportunities, open space, and infrastructure concerns in a way that serves both current and future generations. I'm ready to listen, collaborate, and find solutions that preserve what makes Haddonfield special while ensuring we meet the needs of all residents.

I believe in transparency, accountability, and ensuring the community is informed and involved in decision-making. If elected, I will work tirelessly to restore public trust, support our local businesses, boards, and nonprofits, and ensure our Borough is managed in a way that reflects the values of our residents. I ask for your vote because I believe I can bring the leadership, vision, and dedication Haddonfield needs at this important time.

Food-packing event returns

› The Haddonfield Council of Churches will host a "Feed My Starving Children" food-packing event at the Middle School on Fri Nov 15 and Sat Nov 16.

This will be the ninth time the community of Haddonfield has hosted this event. The goal this year is to pack 100,000 nutritious meals, which will feed 275 children suffering from starvation and malnutrition, for one year.

Those wishing to help the organizers raise the $40,000 needed to purchase ingredients may send a check payable to "Haddonfield Council of Churches" to 204 Wayne Ave, Haddonfield NJ 08033. Write "FMSC 2411-194MI" on the memo line.

Alternatively, donate online at give.fmsc.org/Haddonfield. Scan the QR code ■.

- 29 cents = 1 meal
- $29 = 100 meals
- $65 = 216 meals (one box of FMSC meals)
- $106 = 365 meals (feeds one child for a year)
- $424 = feeds one family for a year
- $2,255 = feeds one classroom for a year
- $12,000 = feeds a village.

Feed My Starving Children is a 501(c)(3) charity, so donations are tax-deductible.

Those wishing to volunteer for the event may do so in October. Stay tuned.
